

The Great Mini Machine. Yamaha JT2 Mini Enduro. Built small, engineered like the big ones. A real scrapper on the dirt, legal for the street.

If you're a dirt riding Dad who's feeling kind of bad he can't take his boy out on the trail with him, we've got a neat solution: the Yamaha JT2 Mini Enduro. Here's a bike that's light, compact, and low to the ground. It's safe and easy to ride.

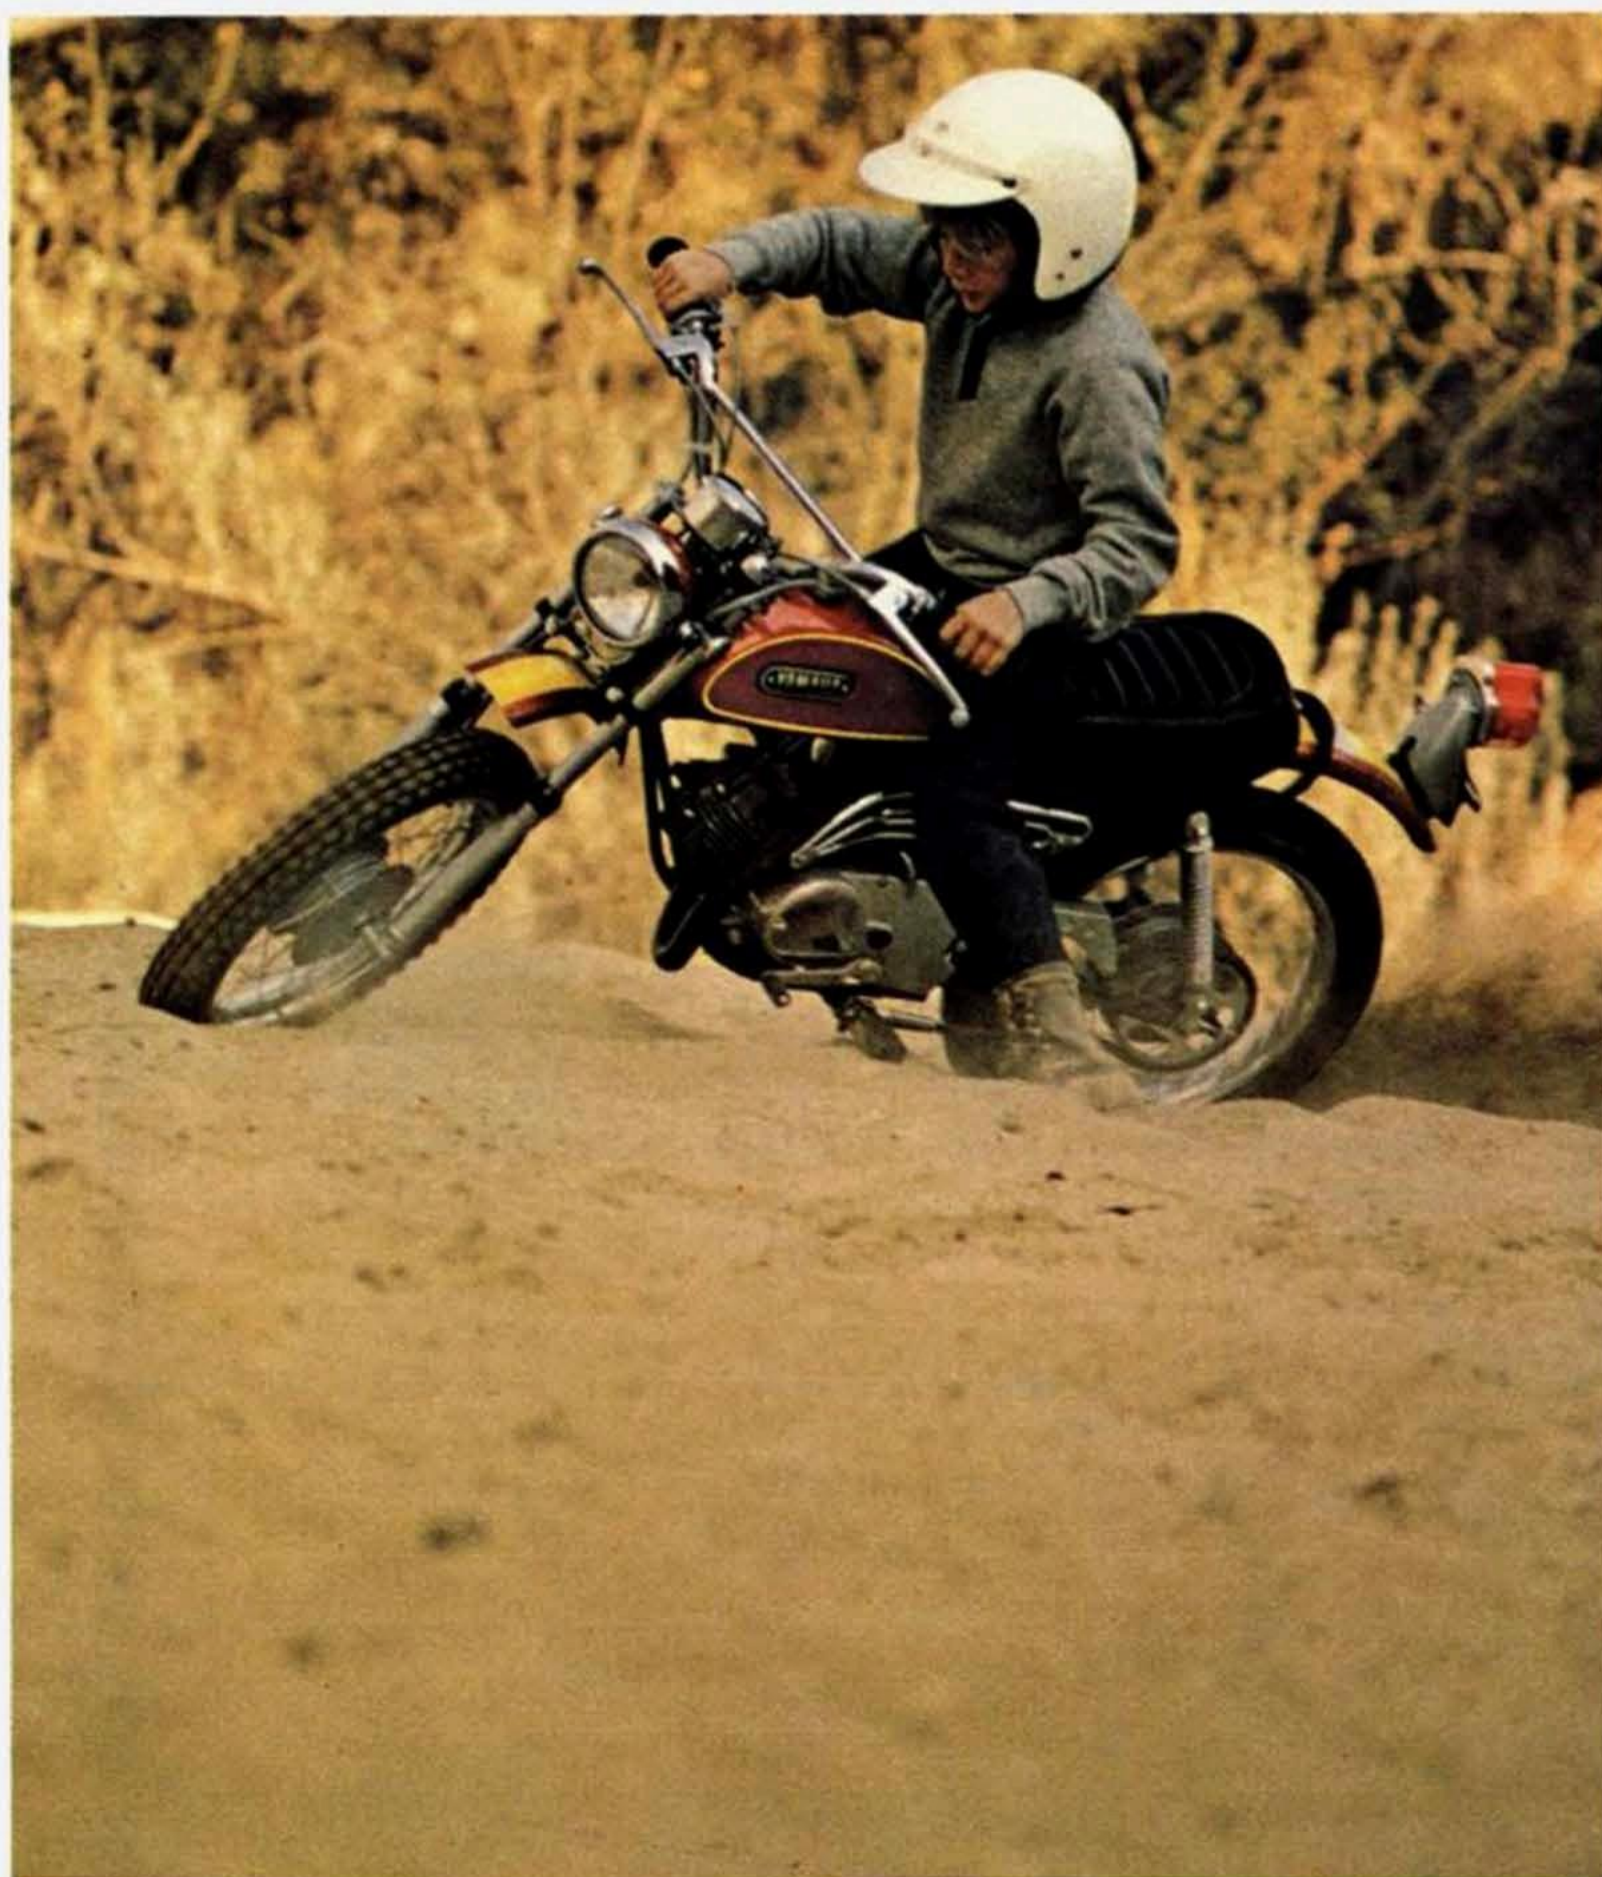

But best of all, the Great Mini Machine is no mere mini-bike. It's a scaled down version of our big Enduros. With all the famous Yamaha features that have made Yamaha the biggest name on the dirt.

It's got a rugged, double-loop cradle frame. A durable set of Enduro front forks. Full swing arm rear suspension. An ultra-smooth four-speed gearbox. Federal Forestry-approved spark arrestor. Full 15-inch spoke wheels. And of course, the Yamaha exclusive, Autolube, automatic gas/oil mixing system.

The engine is an advanced 60cc rotary-valve design that puts out 4.5 bhp @ 7,500 RPM, and 3.62 ft. lbs. @ 5,500. That gives the JT2 plenty of power for throwing its weight around, but not any more than a boy can handle.

Like our big Enduros, the Mini is fully street legal with big bright lamps front and rear, side reflectors, and large dustproof, waterproof, fade-free brakes.

Before you head out for another weekend of solitary trailing, drop by with your boy at your Yamaha dealer for a look at our JT2 Mini Enduro. It's a great way to keep the family together.
